My name is Alan Geer, I am the owner of a $30 million business, Audio Geer, Inc., in Southern California. We are heavily involved in the production industry; from small school plays to Arena-size concerts, Houses of Worship (all sizes) to Corporate events like the recent Keynote speech of Steve Jobs, introducing the iPhone and all of the events of the recent Superbowl (the Superbowl alone required more than 1,000 channels of these wireless systems!)

These productions relay heavily on the use of several kinds of wireless devices including wireless microphones, wireless transmitters for transmission of program audio in real time, and two-way communications.

All of these technologies are required for the production of each and every event. For each performer, referee, Priest to transition back to using cabled devices, or fighting other, higher powered devices would have a devastating impact on the numerous forms of entertainment we currently enjoy.

I urge you to consider the negative impact that proposed unlicensed devices will have on wireless microphones already operating in the TV broadcast band will have on these productions. While as an industry we don't represent a significant revenue stream compared to some of the newer technologies like Blackberries, the impact reaches far and wide.

I appreciate your consideration and if there is anything I can do to help or further clarify, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Sincerely,

Alan Geer
President
